Mean Girls actor Daniel Franzese has joined the cast of Looking.

The actor, best known for being too gay to function as Damian, will appear in the second season of the hit HBO show.

According to The Hollywood Reporter, he will appear in a multi-episode arc as Eddie, a new love interest for one of the show's main characters.

Gay British actor Russell Tovey, who plays Kevin in the series, posted a picture on Instagram of the season two cast enjoying some free time in San Francisco.

Earlier this year, Franzese came out as gay. He chose to write an letter to the movie character that made him famous, Damian, and said: 'I'm not afraid anymore.

Looking is expected to return to HBO in 2015.
